Art Unit: 3738

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 7, 8, 14, 19, 20, 28, and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Ferree et al., US 7,235,102, via U.S. provisional application no. 60/379,462.

Figures 4B and 1C (of said provisional application) illustrate the elements of present claim 7, with the intermediate elastic body corresponding to the elastomer (page 2, line 1) or the permeable membrane enclosed hydrogel (page 2, lines 16-18). Regarding claim 14, the coaxial threaded rings shown in Figure 1C and elsewhere are viewed as the mandrel. Regarding claims 19 and 20, the base plate is capable of accommodating a cylindrical casing, whether or not such was the intent; the cylindrical casing is not a positively recited element of claims 19 and 20.

Claims 15 and 16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The Applicant's remarks have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection presented above.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Dave Willse, whose telephone number is 571-272-4762 and who is generally available Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, and sometimes on Wednesday.
